We are delighted to present Trinity Laban's Graduate School Showcase 2024 - the culmination of students' creative work during their postgraduate programmes in the Faculty of Dance.

Experimental and investigative in nature, the work draws upon collaborative and interdisciplinary practices arising from choreographic and performance-making research.

Join us throughout three weeks to see a showcase of final projects from students who have studied MA and MFA Choreography, MA and MFA Creative Practice: Dance Professional, MA and MFA Creative Practice: Transdisciplinary, MA Dance Performance.

We hope you will explore the Showcase schedule with us and enjoy the shows.

When individuals become part of a group, These individuals usually exhibit a strong herd mentality and seek spiritual unity within the group. In addition, in groups, the leader plays a decisive role, dominating group behaviour like the head of the flock, guiding the group by building consensus and using emotional contagion to enhance group cohesion and action. This approach exacerbates a tendency towards blind obedience, brutal paranoia and fanaticism, which can lead to a number of important psychosocial consequences, including dogmatism, paranoia and a lack of responsibility under the illusion of numerical superiority, even leading to extreme behaviour.
